Seattle’s Pioneer Square neighborhood has the highest rate of reported bicycle theft and pickpocketing/purse-snatching in the city.

On Thursday, several of those family members joined a march and speeches marking the delivery of petitions to City Hall, which would make it a crime to provocateur laws.

For years, debate has stalled over limiting when police can use deadly force. Washington’s law, which is considered one of the most restrictive in the country, is under review by the state Supreme Court.
